Supply list for Class #5002

Art Lessons for Children with Anna Wakitsch

A set of pan watercolors (Here is a link to the Winsor Newton set of 14 colors, although you do not need to have the same exact colors <https://www.dickblick.com/items/winsor-newton-cotman-watercolors-compact-set-assorted-colors-set-of-14-half-pans/>)

A white palette/mixing surface. (Some watercolor sets come with mixing areas but you could also use a plastic or ceramic plate)

9"x12" pad of watercolor paper. It's best if it is thick/heavy enough not to ripple too much (mine is 140 lbs), and more smooth than rough in texture (I usually get "hot press" instead of "cold press")

Soft synthetic brushes in flats and rounds, mostly small and medium sizes.

a cup for water

paper towels

graphite pencils and sharpener

rubber and kneaded erasers
